Medics ICD-10 Coding Converter:

Impending Chaos Derailed!

ICD-10 is feared by many as being chaos coming toward us with an impact date of October 1, 2014. The mere fact that a common piece of advice is to ensure having a cash reserve or credit line is enough to make anyone nervous.

Yes...It will live up to its "billing" as chaos if your system and vendor are not prepared right now. Saying they will be prepared just isn't good enough.

Look to ADS and the Medics ICD-10 Coding Converter!

Impending Chaos Derailed!

Using the Medics ICD-10 Coding Converter could not be easier:

- Enter the current ICD-9 code or a descriptive word (such as "carpal"), or part of a word (such as "car"). A list of possible ICD-10 codes, or the exact code is instantly displayed.

- Select the related ICD-10 code from the list of results.

- Click it and then submit the claim with the correct ICD-10 code!

It's that simple.

Your practice will be able to use the Medics ICD-10 Coding Converter in advance as a training tool to help staff become familiar with the corresponding ICD-10 codes.

The Medics ICD-10 Coding Converter is a built-in, no additional cost capability within Version 7 of our MedicsPremier system for comprehensive practice management. If needed, ICD-9 codes can still be referenced once ICD-10 is in effect.

ADS has been providing practice management / billing / EDI systems continuously since 1977. Tens of millions of EDI transactions for every medical specialty - including anesthesiology, radiology, and behavioral health - are processed annually through systems from ADS. And, ADS programmers have performed many hundreds of data conversions from other systems.

Don't sit around wringing your hands, worrying about ICD-10. Instead, contact ADS at 800-899-4237, Extension 2264 or by emailing info@adsc.com for more information on the Medics ICD-10 Coding Converter, or to schedule a personalized system presentation.

See why thousands of providers rely on interoperable systems from ADS!
